Introduction

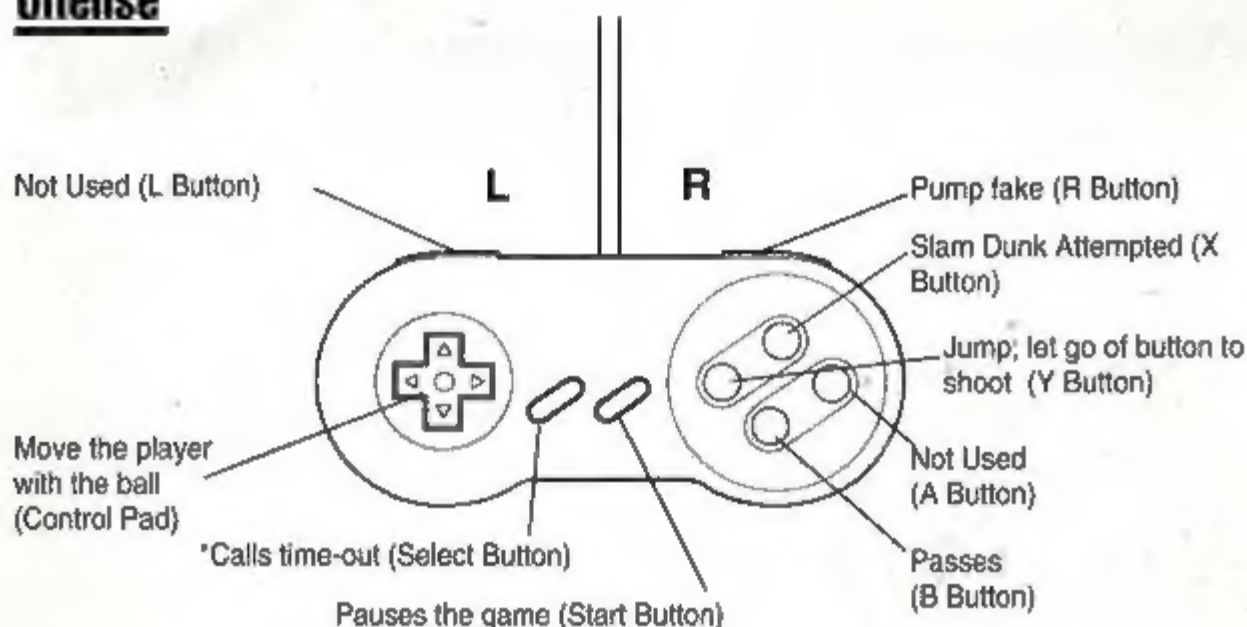

Now sports fans everywhere can experience live professional basketball on their very own Super Nintendo Entertainment System (Super NES). Dribble downcourt and zig-zag to outmaneuver the opponent guarding you. Pass to your teammate on the give-and-go and cut inside the key just as he snaps it back to you for the SUPER SLAM DUNK! Five-on-five basketball has never been this exciting with a rotating court to follow the ball for all the fast-break action, pro tips from Magic Johnson, and Laker's announcer Chick Hearn calling the play-by-play. The player will fake shots and hold the ball as long as necessary on jump shots while the responsive crowd and cheerleaders react to home team points and blatant fouls made by the opposing team.

The scoreboard displays the following information:

- Score of each team
- Time remaining in quarter
- Quarter being played
- Time remaining on shot clock

Scoring

The type of shot made will depend on your position in relation to the basket. If the shooter is in a good position under the hoop he will be able to slam dunk the ball. Otherwise, he will perform a jumpshot. The player can hold the ball as long as necessary on jump shots. Faking before shooting is a good strategy to use. Remember, the Y button is used for shooting. Press the R button to fake a shot. Press the X button when you are within close range of the basket to slam dunk.

There are three ways to score:

Free Throws - Awarded by being fouled or by rule infractions of the other team. Usually worth 1 point, however certain fouls give the opportunity to shoot "one and one" making it possible to score 2 points.

Field Goals - Any shot made within the outer arc or "three point line." Worth 2 points

Three Pointers - Any shot made outside the outer arc or "three point line." Worth 3 points

Highlighted player is on 3 point line.

Passing

Just face the player with the ball in the direction you wish to pass, and press the B button. Many different passes may be used to maneuver the ball to the hoop. The longer the button is held, the trickier the pass will be. Passing is a good way to move the ball quickly up or down court. Just beware of interceptions by the opposing team!

You will encounter two different types of passes in gameplay:

- No-Look
- Behind the Back

Offensive Strategy

Don't forget to incorporate into your strategy the basics in good offense:

Rebounding - Be ready to grab a missed shot and slam it home with a SUPER SLAM DUNK!

Fake Shots - Outsmart the defense by faking before taking the shot. (R button)

SUPER SLAM DUNK!

Defensive Gameplay

Good defense has won many a game. Here are some tactics for you to use in your strategy.

Stealing - You can't score if you don't have the ball! Take the initiative!

Set Screens - Don't give the offense a direct route to the basket... make them go around you!

Switch Player Control - Use the X button to switch control to the appropriate player; it is always best to be in control of the player that is nearest to the ball.

Rebound - Be waiting for the ball under the hoop whenever a shot is taken, then go for the Fast Break!

Defensive Fouls - Although slightly unsportsmanlike, a foul at the critical moment can turn the momentum of a game in your team's direction, as well as make you feel better!

Time Outs

You will have an unlimited number of Time Outs, which can be very beneficial. They will help advance the ball down-court without losing playing time and your team members will always appreciate the few minutes of rest!

To call a Time Out, while on offense, press the Start button to pause, then press Select. To return to gameplay, press Start again.

Violations

The same rules apply to SUPER SLAM DUNK as the real national teams follow.

A turn-over will occur in any of the following situations:

- 24 seconds on the shot clock expires before an attempt to score is made.
- Any offensive player spends more than 3 seconds in the "key."
- The player with control of the ball jumps up and lands without attempting a shot.
- After gaining possession, a team fails to bring the ball to their side of the court before 10 seconds have elapsed.

REFEREE

Fouls

When a foul is committed, the referee screen will appear notifying you that a foul was called.

Passwords

At the end of each Playoff game you will be given a password to save your game. Remember to write down your password as it will allow you to pick up where you left off if you need to stop playing for any reason. Press Select for passwords while at the Tournament tree. When entering a password, up and down changes the characters while pressing left and right highlights the previous/next character. Press Select when done to bring up old Tournament tree, then press Start to begin play.

PASSWORD SCREEN

Passwords are issued at the end of a game in Tournament Mode.
